The John Corcoran Foundation (JCF) is an equal opportunity organization. JCF associates are protected by federal laws prohibiting discrimination on the basis of race, religion, color, sex (including pregnancy and gender identity), national origin, age, disability, family medical history, or genetic information. In addition, the JCF does not discriminate against individuals based on parental status, marital status, political affiliation or military service. The JCF does not discriminate against individuals who complained about discrimination, filed a charge of discrimination, or participated in an employment discrimination investigation or lawsuit. These commitments are exemplified in all of JCF's management practices and decisions, including recruitment and hiring practices, performance-appraisal systems, promotions and professional development programs. NOTE: A background check may be required for some volunteer roles.
